JUDGE JAMES BREATHITT IS SPEAKING IN MARSHALL COUNTY THIS AFTERNOON

ACTORS STRANDED AT MAYFIELD ARE IN SORE STRAITS

Members of Santell Vaudeville Company, After Brief Season, Say They are Deserted by Manager, With Salaries Several Weeks in Arrears.

COME TO PADUCAH TODAY.

Early, theatrical companies this season seem to be afflicted with shortness of funds, as the managers of two of the three companies, which have shown here in the past few days have left the members of their companies stranded. Yesterday's news dispatches told of the flight from West Point, Mississippi, and subsequent arrest at Cairo, of Manager Frank, of the Toyland company, while today several members of the Great Santell vaudeville company came here from Mayfield, where they had been deserted. They say Santell left them without the formality of a farewell, incidentally failing to pay their salaries which were several weeks in arrears. The theatrical people who were left at Mayfield said that Santell had no legitimate reason for his action in deserting the company as they had been playing to good business and making money. The engagement at Mayfield was for a "two night stand" and a good crowd was out at the first performance. In Paducah the company played three nights with fair business.

Santell is believed to have gone to Memphis from Mayfield, although his baggage was checked to Chicago, and the members of the company, who were in Paducah today, will go to Chicago and get attachments for the baggage if they can beat Santell there.

The company was organized at Evansville and the majority of the performers are Evansville people. The names of those who came to Paducah this morning were: Harold Ulrich, Paul Maxwell, Charles Cameron, Harry Toledo, Miss Cecil May, and Paul, Charles and Harry Lenniger.

Alleged Bootleggers Arrested.
Aaron Tiley and John Bugei were arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy U. S. Marshal Wade Brown on charge of selling intoxicating liquor at the fair grounds August 8 without a government license. They sold pale ale and other like beverages alleged to be non-intoxicating. They gave bond for appearance Monday before Commissioner W. A. Gardner.

Love Feast of Red Men.
Otego tribe of Red Men will meet Friday evening and hold a love feast during which L. L. Behout, Paducah's delegate to the national convention of Red Men at Jamestown, will report.

CLUB SEEKS SECRETARY

With many expressions of regret the resignation of D. W. Coons, secretary of the Commercial club, was accepted by the directors of the organization last night. Once before he resigned but reconsidered when importuned. A committee, with Mr. Sol Dreyfuss, as chairman, will present suitable resolutions, expressing the sentiment of Mr. Coons' co-workers. The club is advertising for a secretary, the selection to be made next Wednesday.

ALL CHARGED WITH GAMING

Buck Mount, Jeff Elrod, Charles Slaughter, Aaron Tiley and Sam Vickers, were arrested today and released on bond for their appearance in police court to answer to the charge of gaming. They are alleged to have gambled in a warehouse, and one of the number is said to have dropped $400.

BROOKPORT HOUSE BURNS

Brookport, Ill., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—A defective flue, caused the destruction by fire this morning at 2 o'clock, of the two story frame house of D. W. Russell in the eastern part of town. The house was situated next to the railroad track and was valued at $1,500.

Benton, Ky., Sept. 19. (Special.)—Farmers from all sections of Marshall county, augmented into an imposing crowd by many Benton citizens of all political parties, were attracted to the court house this afternoon, where Judge James Breathitt, of Hopkinsville, Republican candidate for attorney general, is delivering one of the telling speeches of the campaign.

Judge Breathitt, who is one of the most forceful, as well as logical and eloquent speakers in the state, has many friends in this county, and his reputation as an orator brought out a crowd that surprised the local politicians, considering the condition of crops, which compel strict attention to business on the part of the farmers.

FARMERS ENJOY BIG INSTITUTE

The McCracken County Farmers' Institute, at Maxon Mills, is creating general interest among farmers, and is largely attended. It began yesterday and will end this afternoon late.

Dr. F. L. Kimbrough, of Maxon Mills, was elected president and D. W. Coons, of Paducah, secretary.

Yesterday afternoon speeches were made by Mr. John Allen, of Guthrie, Ky., on dark tobacco and its culture, and Secretary Coons, of the Commercial club, talked on the immigration and good roads convention. Three speakers from Zanesville, Ohio, are on the program. Mr. Strode spoke on apple culture, Mr. Spender on alfalfa and Mr. McIntire on breeding cattle.

OKLAHOMA IS DEMOCRATIC

Oklahoma City, Sept. 19.—Incomplete returns from Oklahoma's first state election point to a victory for the Democratic party, with an overwhelming vote in favor of the constitution and a safe majority for Prohibition.

Chairman Thompson, of the Democratic campaign committee, claims the election of Charles N. Haskell, of Muskogee, formerly of Ohio, for governor, by a majority of between 30,000 and 40,000.

Prohibition will carry by 40,000. Four of the five congressmen elected are Democrats, former Delegate Bird S. McGuire being the only Republican nominee for congress to be elected.

Body Shipped.

The body of Walter White, of Florence, Ala., who died in Riverside hospital Saturday of heart trouble, was shipped home this morning. A telegram authorizing shipment of the corpse was received last night from the young man's mother. The body had been held by Guy Nance & Son. A mistake in the town was first made, it being stated he lived in Florence, S. C.

Standard Discloses Tactics.

New York, Sept. 19.—John G. Milburn served notice on the government in the closing hour of today's session of the Standard Oil investigation, that the trust will object to the introduction of any testimony bearing upon acts committed prior to July 2, 1890, the date that the Sherman anti-trust law went into effect.

Coming in from all directions the farmers did not attract much attention this morning, but when they began to move toward the court house soon after dinner, it was seen that Judge Breathitt's words would be carried by his hearers to all parts of the county, and by the time the meeting convened between 1 and 2 o'clock, the court room was filled. Republicans here are greatly encouraged over the reception to Judge Breathitt.

He was introduced by Postmaster Ford in an excellent speech, setting forth the Republican claims on the support of all good citizens.

Capt. Ed Farley, of Paducah, Republican candidate for state treasurer, went on to Murray, where he will be joined by Judge Breathitt tomorrow.

Twenty Boxes Sold For Horse Show.

Twenty choice boxes, each with a six seat capacity, were sold at public auction last evening at the Palmer House, leaving 40 more to be sold at private sale. Bidding was spirited, and a large crowd attended the sale. Following are those who bought boxes:

Joseph Friedman, first choice, $20; J. W. Keller, second choice, $20; Captain Harrison Watts, third choice, $17; R. B. Phillips, fourth choice, $18; Dr. I. B. Howell, fifth choice, $16; Dow Wilcox, Ben Wellie, David M. Flournoy, I. D. Wilcox, Fred

Wade, J. H. Rudy, E. G. Boone, R. B. Phillips, Louis Riecke, Jr., Dr. Will Owen, W. M. Riecke, Saunders A. Fowler, Frank Davis, A. S. Thompson and Horace Shinn.

The diagram showing the boxes remaining to be sold has been placed at Will J. Gilbert's drug store and will be sold at private sales. A great many were sold today, and those wishing one will do well to order it at once. The six seat boxes will be sold at $15 and the four seat boxes at $10, which is reasonable, as it figures only 62 1-2 cents a seat for each performance.

TWENTY WINNERS FOR HORSE SHOW

Twenty prize winners from the Halley stable in Murray, Ky., will be entered in Paducah horse show events, swelling the list of entries to more than 200 horses. Where all horses will be placed is bothering promoters of the combined horse show and fall races, and an appeal to residents for the use of private stables have been set out again.

E. H. Halley, of Murray, who last year and the year before took several of the big prizes in horse show events, intends to "make 'em sit up and take notice" this year. He has been "laying" for the horse show and will have twenty star entries for the judges to puzzle over. He telephoned this information last night.

Entries are coming in fast, now that the horse show and races are near at hand, and both Mr. Fendol Burnett and George Goodman, who have charge of booking, are head over heels in work, answering letters by the score, and detailing information desired from many states.

POPULAR YOUNG FOLKS UNITED AT LONE OAK

Mr. John M. Clark, of this city, and Miss Minnie Foster, of near Massac, were married at Lone Oak last evening at 7:30 o'clock by Rev. T. B. Rouse. Mr. Clark is a brother of Mr. U. H. Clark, chief clerk to Master Mechanic R. E. Fulmer, of the Illinois Central, and is a young man well known and popular in a wide circle of friends. Miss Foster is the daughter of a prominent McCracken county farmer, a well known and generally liked. They will reside in Paducah. Mr. Clark is employed in the Illinois Central machine shops and has been a resident of Paducah for several years.

Little Girl Saves Her Life.

Thrown from her mount, little Ruth Parkins, 12 years old, retained presence of mind enough to kick herself away from the horse she had been riding, and escaped probably fatal injuries last evening at dusk at Bridge and Clements street in Mechanicsburg. Miss Parkins is a daughter of Mrs. Albert Parkins, a widow, residing in Farley Place. She did not escape entirely. Her right arm was stepped on and crushed. Dr. Carl M. Sears dressed the injury.

Firemen Rewarded.

For their good work in fighting the fire which gutted the top story of the J. N. White building, occupied by the Scott-Hardware company and L. W. Henneberger & company firms, members of the city fire department received a check for $150 from Captain White, of Nashville, to be distributed equally among them.

Two Moonshiners Disagree.

Mayking, Ky., Sept. 19.—In a dispute over the possession of a moonshine still on top of the Cumberland mountains, Will Allen shot and fatally wounded John Watson, his partner.

GRAND JURORS ARE COMPLIMENTED FOR RAPIDITY OF WORK

After reporting 54 indictments at 10:30 o'clock this morning and reporting the jail in excellent condition, the grand jury was finally discharged by Circuit Judge W. M. Reed, highly complimented by the court for the dispatch and vast amount of business transacted in the short time it was in session. It accomplished more than any other grand jury for many years, returning during its 14 days work 112 indictments and 14 minutes of the examining court marked "dismissed."

Out of the 54 indictments returned this morning, only a few are given out for publication. They follow: Minutes of the examining court marked "dismissed" were returned as follows: Abe Thompson, assisting a girl under 16 to enter a house of prostitution; E. O. Thomas, two charges, for forgery and obtaining money by false pretenses; Boyd Manuel, breach of peace; T. N. Letcher, converting $175 of Lula White's money to his own use; Frank Hayes, converting $152 of May Averitt's money to his own use.

Indictments—Murray Howle, willful neglect of official duty; Jimmie Taylor, malicious shooting with intent to kill; Ed King, Robert Buckner, breaking into Lutz Clark's grocery; Jonas Smith, maliciously shooting W. W. (Pete) Gibson at Wallace park; Toni Vincent, grand larceny, stealing $28 from W. H. Jones.

Judge Reed will sentence several prisoners tomorrow morning. In regard to the Hugh Boyle cases, he stated he does not know when he will feel like hearing argument. He will not adjourn court before Saturday.

POLICE CHARGED WITH ROBBERY IN ONE INDICTMENT

Indictments charging robbery were returned this morning by the grand jury against Patrolmen Will Orr and Jack Sanders. Orr is now lying in bed ill of stomach trouble, while Sanders is working at his trade of ship carpenter. Complaining witnesses against them are negroes who charge they took from Will Brown $3.50 and from John Harris 40 cents. The prosecuting witnesses say several months ago they were coming from Union Station when at Eleventh and Caldwell streets, they were stopped by two men, one of them wearing a policeman's uniform and a star and armed with a club, while the other carried a gun.

At the police station a report was made, but they failed to identify Patrolmen Orr and Sanders, then of the depot beat on which the robbery occurred.

Other Indictments.
Many Paducah firms were indicted for failing to have the word "incorporated" on their signs. The firms are: Farmers' and Mechanics' Savings bank, Cochran Shoe company, Paducah Burial association, Globe Bank and Trust company, Illinois Central railroad, Prudential Insurance company, Powell-Rogers company, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, Paducah Home Telephone company, Engler & Bryant, Rhodes-Burford company, Dreyfuss, Well & company, Biederman Distilling company, Harbour Pitts Shoe company, Harbour's Department Store, First National bank, American-German National bank, New City Steam Laundry, the Eye See Jewelry company, American Express company, Lack Singletree company, Western Union and Adams Express company.

THE WEATHER.

FAIR.

Generally fair tonight and Friday. Not much change in temperature. Highest temperature yesterday, 95; lowest today, 70.

FORMER TURNKEY HOWLE INDICTED BY GRAND JURY.

Charged With Neglect of Duty

In Taking Prisoner Down Street, Where Latter Got Into Shooting Scrape, Using Officers Own Pistol.

"Willful neglect of official duty" is the charge preferred against Murray (Bud) Howle, formerly turnkey at the county jail, in an indictment returned by the grand jury this morning. It is one of 54 indictments. With it came the indictment of Jimmie Taylor for malicious shooting, both indictments growing out of the same occurrence. Howle is not before the court, but resides in the county and can be brought before the court at any time. Saturday night, September 14, Jimmie Taylor, a prisoner in the county jail, desired to purchase trousers. He asked Turnkey Howle to take him down town. Howle, without asking permission from Jailer James Eaker, according to Jailer Eaker's statement, took Taylor out and about 12:30 o'clock on Sunday morning, while leaving a colored restaurant at Eighth and Washington streets, where the two had gone for lunch, Taylor got into a difficulty with Boyd Manuel, colored, resulting in Manuel's being shot in the left arm. Taylor carried a wound in his thigh, claiming that Manuel shot him. The grand jury returned a "not true bill" against Manuel.

Taylor, it is said, secured his pistol from Turnkey Howle's hip pocket.

For taking Taylor out without authority of Jailer Eaker, Howle is charged with willful neglect of official duty. For shooting Manuel, and being the provoker, Taylor is charged with malicious shooting with intent to kill. The penalty in Howle's case is a fine of from $100 to $500. L. L. Jones, by remarkable coincidence, who is foreman of the grand jury which returned the Howle indictment, was Jailer James Eaker's predecessor, and was himself fined $100 for permitting Willis Mount, a prisoner charged with murder, to handle keys to the jail.

Post Office Forced to Go Into Open Market For Stamps.

Uncle Sam went on the open market yesterday for the product of his own workshops. The postoffice in Paducah yesterday ran out of one cent stamps and the clerks went to the expediency of buying up stamps in drug stores, book stores and other places where they usually are on sale, to sell again through the stamp window. This was small relief, however, and in another hour every inquiry for one cent stamps was met with the statement that there were none for sale. Explaining the scarcity of the stamps, the clerks said that they had put in their order at the usual time, September 1, but up until a week ago had not received any answer from Washington. Then they telegraphed an inquiry about them but have no information as to when they will receive a consignment.

LIKED GOOD SHEPHERD HOME AND WILL RETURN

Unsatisfied with a free and unrestrained life in Paducah, her home town, after a taste of life in the Home of the Good Shepherd in Louisville, Nora Ladd, 16 years old, applied at police headquarters today and asked to be sent back to the Louisville institution.

Nora and Belle Ladd or Cox, as they are also known, were sent to the Louisville institution four years ago, remaining until a few weeks ago. They returned, but Nora Ladd did not think well of the move. She was admitted through the efforts of Chief of Police James Collins, who will see that she is reinstated.

"YOM HAKIPPURIM."

Day of Atonement Among Members of Jewish Faith.

Yom Hakippurim or "Yom Kippur" as it is known in its abbreviated form, the day of days in the Jewish religion in which all worldly affairs are laid aside and atonement for sins is made by fasting and repentance in the house of the Lord, was observed by members of the Jewish faith all over the world yesterday.

SNEAK THIEF ROBS I. C. FIREMAN OF HIS GOOD CLOTHES.

Robert Robertson, a well known Illinois Central "highball" passenger train fireman, of 1201 Jefferson street, was forced to go to his home this morning in his overalls, having been the victim of a sneak thief at Memphis last night. Robertson was firing the "highball" passenger engine arriving here from Memphis at 1:25 o'clock. He left his suit case in the engine cab. It contained his clothes and $48 in cash. He got down from the engine to assist in oiling and preparing for the run. On returning to his cab a short time after, Robertson found that his suit case was gone. A hasty search of the yards failed to discover the thief.

MR. POWDERLY WILL COME TO PADUCAH TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Secretary D. W. Coons, of the Commercial club, has received the following encouraging communication concerning the immigration convention from Commissioner General F. M. Sargent:

"Referring to your letter of the 2nd inst., I am happy to inform you that I have had a conference with Mr. Powderly, chief of the division of information, and he informs me that it will be a pleasure for him to attend the convention to be held in your city on the 26th and 27th of this month, and to give the association such information as lies within his power as to the work of the bureau, and particularly that of his own division, which is concerned with the distribution of arriving immigrants to the various sections of the country where they are most desired. I trust that the convention will be a most successful one, and that many important problems will be satisfactorily discussed."

MANY PEOPLE SEEK MISSING HALE MALONE

Local Collector For Collier's Subject of Warrant For False Pretenses.

NO REPORT FOR LAST WEEK

Borrows Money and Hires Horse Which he Abandons Near Station.

IS QUITE A LADIES' MAN

False pretenses and possibly other serious charges resulting from working the confidence game on C. L. Dickerson, a Jefferson street liverman, are some of the charges that Hale Malone, of Louisville, a collector for the Peter Collier Publishing company will have to answer, if he is caught, and Paducah detectives believe that they have Malone located. Malone is good looking and is a smooth talker. During his stay in Paducah he used a rig belonging to Mr. Dickerson to ride around and collect money for the publishing company. Mr. E. W. Trail, one of the managers of Collier's Louisville agency, who arrived in Paducah this morning, says Malone has not made a report of the amount of his collections for over a week and is known to be over $200 behind.

Yesterday evening Malone failed to show up at the stable with the rig and Mr. Dickerson made a search for him and about 10 o'clock last night discovered his horse tied to a tree near the Union station, where it was learned that the animal had been standing all day without food or water.

In addition to the livery bill of $13 which Malone owes Dickerson, he "conned" the liverman out of $25 which he "borrowed" until he could draw his week's salary.

In addition to his peculiar accomplishments, Malone is said to be quite a favorite with the ladies, and besides his acquaintance with a number of Paducah girls, which he made during his stay here, he had several lady friends in Louisville, whom he often called up over long distance telephone.

Malone is believed to have gone from here to Cairo to meet a woman, and a description was sent to the Cairo police with instructions to arrest and hold him if found.

ANOTHER UNION IS FORMED IN PADUCAH

Coremakers and moulders in Paducah will be organized into a union, preliminary steps towards organization being taken today. This morning Mr. W. C. Saxton, secretary of the Boilermakers' union, laid off at the Illinois Central shops to confer with moulders and core makers at the Illinois Central shops, Jackson's foundry and the Shelton foundry. There are about 15 moulders and core makers in Paducah, and they receive a little less than the union scale, it is stated.

UNION GLASS BLOWERS LEAVE FINLEY PLANT

The Finley glass plant in Mechanicsburg, Paducah's newest industry, is idle today, glass blowers having been called out this morning shortly after the whistle was sounded. President J. A. Voll, of the Glass Blowers' Union of the United States and Canada, issued the call, and not a glass blower remained at his post.

CENTRAL LABOR UNION WILL MEET TONIGHT

The Central Labor Union will meet tonight in regular session to act on several important matters. The matter of setting a date for crowning the goddess of labor, Miss Helene Hannin, a report will be heard from the Glass Blowers' union relative to the walk out this morning, and a committee from the Farmers' unions is expected to wait on the body relative to establishing a farmers' exchange here. There will be much routine business to transact.

FRESHMAN CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS

High School Pupils Organize
For the Year.

Will Have Fast Football Team in Opinion of Coach Keller, Who Talks Up Sport.

TEACHER LOSING HER VOICE.

President—Virginia Holland.
Vice-President—Mary Ellen Rogers.
Secretary—Edwin Lightfoot.
Treasurer—Rebecca Smith.
Class Editor—Ewell Ham.

Yesterday afternoon an election of officers of the freshman class of the High school was held, resulting as above. Class colors of crimson and gold were selected. This with the selection of class colors of black and gold, by the sophomore class, complete class elections except in the junior class. This afternoon juniors will elect officers and select colors. The senior class organized the first week of school, but as yet have to select colors and a motto.

School Notes.
Miss Anna Byrd Stewart, of Cincinnati, who is visiting in Paducah, and who taught in Paducah schools
two years ago, gave a delightful reading to the literary class of the High school this morning.

Mr. Leo Keller, coach for the football team, addressed boys, who are candidates for positions on the team, and also other members of the class.
Regarding success in football, he urged that cheering clubs be organized, and stressed the necessity of hard team work, and co-operation in every way. He thinks by hard work team may overcome an advantage of the Culley team in weight.

Supt. John Carnegie has received word from Prof. C. O. Peratt, of Ewing, Ky., who has accepted a position in the High school, that he will arrive Friday or Saturday.

Might Lose Her Voice.
Fearing that she would lose her voice and on advice of her physician, Miss Mabel Roberts, teacher of the first grade at Franklin school, tendered her resignation to Supt. John Carnegie yesterday afternoon, and as soon as relieved she will retire from school work until her health is better. Miss Roberts was ill the latter part of last year, and she was granted a leave of absence. During summer she improved and resumed her work at the beginning of school two weeks ago. She soon grew weaker and her voice showed symptoms of failing. A consultation with her doctor resulted in her resignation.

Superintendent Carnegie stated that he would supply a substitute at once, but Miss Roberts will teach today and tomorrow.

Lives of Robbers.

William A. Pinkerton today made his annual address to the international chiefs of police, in the course of which he said, after describing the exploits of the famous band of bandits led by Jesse James.

"The exaggerated publications of the exploits of this band had more to do with the making of 'bad men' in the west than anything which occurred before they began operating or since.

"There is no crime in America so hazardous as 'hold-up' robbery. Over two-thirds of those who have been engaged in it have eventually either been killed outright operating or resisting arrest, lynched by posess, or what is known as 'died with their boots on.' Many were wounded and died from the effects of wounds, while nearly all others were either captured and sentenced to long terms of imprisonment or driven from the United States, becoming exiles in distant foreign climes.

"Those at large are constantly in fear of arrest, living secluded lives and risking no chances of discovery by communications with friends."—

Chinaman Admitted to Bar.

What is believed to be the first time that a Chinese has been admitted to practice in a federal court occurred Friday, when Seid Back, Jr., was accorded that privilege by Judge Calverton in the United States district and circuit courts. The real name of the Chinese is Seid Gan, but he is commonly known as Back, the name of his father, Portland's wealthiest Chinese merchant.

Young Back is 26 years old and was born in Portland. He has always been a leader among the young educated Chinese of the city and recently completed a course at the Oregon law school, afterward being admitted to the bar.—Portland Chron-

JUST KICKED AT A CAT.

Cure for Rheumatism Discovered By a Jersey Freight Clerk.

A clerk in the Pennsylvania railroad freight office in Jersey City suffered from spasmodic twinges in his right leg, which he attributed to rheumatism. He consulted a physician and spent a good deal for medicine, but continued to grow worse.

One morning recently the office
tomcat in a spirit of friendliness arched his back and rubbed against the afflicted calf. The clerk gave a vicious kick with his bad leg, and a gray streak shot through the air.
He hobbled to a chair and sat down with a few stirring remarks about cats and rheumatism.

A few minutes later he gritted his teeth hard and arose. He shook his leg and feebly smiled. Then he walked like a drum major across the floor and boisterously shook hands with himself. The sharp twinges had disappeared and there has been no recurrence of pain.

The clerk's doctor corrected his diagnosis when asked for an explanation of the sudden cure, and said that what he mistook for rheumatism was probably caused by a twisted ligament. The kick at the cat straightened out the twist and removed the cause of the trouble.—New York Sun.

The Waiter's Revenge.

The lady in the restaurant was very hard to please. Finally the ice cream pudding furnished a grievance.
"Why is it called ice cream pudding?" she asked the waiter. "If you don't like it, madam, I will bring something else." "Oh, I like it well enough, but I object to its name.
There ought to be ice cream served with it." That was the last stroke, and the patient waiter "got his own back" by replying: "They don't serve cottages with cottage pie, though I expect you would ask for one!"—Dundee Advertiser.

Humility is one of the ingredients
a self-made man occasionally forgets to mix with his material.

LAND AN ACTOR

PLAYING WITH JOHNNY RAY IN
"KING CASEY."

Made First Appearance Last Night at the Lyceum at Toledo, Ohio.

The Toledo News-Bee has this to say about Grover Land, Paducah's graduate baseball catcher, playing with the Toledo American Association team:

"Mr. Grover Land, of Paducah, Ky., with Johnny Ray in 'King
Casey.'"

Such is the new title of the second catcher of the Toledo ball club as Grover has signed a contract with Mr. Ray who is playing the Lyceum this week.

Not only that, but Grover is to make his first appearance on Wednesday night. Last night he was working overtime to learn his score and by Wednesday night he will be fit as a fiddle and will take his part on the Lyceum stage.

Just how many errors he'll make is hard to figure out but it's a safe bet that Grover will make a hit that will score for the Rays in great shape.

Here's hoping that Grover does as fine pegging with his thorax as he has with his throwing arm several times this season—also that the hit may be strong enough to go for a home run.

MODERN PARISIAN DUELS.

The Three Kinds—Some of the Tricks to Gain Time in Dueling.

Duels are common enough in France nowadays, but they are robbed of their picturesque side. They may be divided into three categories, which I place in the order of their frequency of occurrence: Journalists' duels which are the outcome of a tongue too well hung or lubricated
by an overdose of alcohol, and, secondly, those where the opponents are out to kill if they can. The above order also represents the degree of publicity accompanying each.

Of these due to an ill-considered or ill-bred remark comparatively few come to an interchange of shots or thrusts, but fizzle out after an interchange of cards. Morning brings a more reasonable frame of mind, and things are quieted down by those unfortunate individuals who have been selected as seconds. When such encounters do take place at least one of the principals is only too desirous for privacy to be maintained, the safest possible conditions are arranged, and one only hears about the affair after it is all over.

The materials for disagreement are usually a night restaurant and the one extra bottle which might have been dispensed with. Only yesterday morning a respectable married man found himself confronted in combat by an unknown Argentine with whom he had apparently had a disagreement the night before at a well known second-rate cosmopolitan cafe, much frequented between about 2 a.
m. and breakfast time.

Neither of the gentlemen quite knew what it was all about, but their

Some manufacturers do not advertise, but give the dealer an extra discount in order to get him to push their goods at the expense of the advertised article. Therefore insist on seconds said it was all right, so they had to go through with it, and no harm was done. The third type of duel is serious and very rare. It usually takes the form of a row about a lady.

There are a good many tricks to gain time in dueling. Dropping the sword is one; resting the point on the ground or making a wide parry
so as to scrape the ground is another.
In either of these cases the point has to be sandpapered and treated with antiseptic or held in a flame, so that there may be no risk of a wound being poisoned.

With pistols the conditions are arranged according to the seriousness of the quarrel. As a rule, dueling pistols at twenty-five paces are used.
The dueling pistol is muzzle-loading and rifled. Its pull-off is regulated by the circumstances; also the powder charge. Seconds often arrange to put in only sufficient powder to drive the bullet out of the bore; sometimes they drop the bullet into the left hand when loading and hammer
the imaginary one down the barrel.
At a duel which occurred not long ago one of the men was hit in the middle of his forehead. The skin was scarcely injured, and when he took off his hat out fell the bullet, which had slipped up between the skin and the brim.—Household Brigade Magazine.

NEARLY THIRTY DEATHS DAILY

Averaged by Railroads For Year.

One Passenger to Every 2,000,000 Carried and One Trainman to Every 124 Employed.

NEARLY 100,000 ARE INJURED.

In their annual reports to the interstate commerce commission, carriers include returns for all casualties to passengers, employees, trespassers and other persons. The following figures therefore are not comparable with details in the commissions' Accident Bulletins, based on monthly reports that chiefly relate to casualties to passengers and to employees while on duty on or about trains:

The total number of casualties to persons on the railways for the year ending June 30, 1906, was 108,321, of which 10,618 represented the number of persons killed and 97,703 the number injured. Casualties occurred among three general classes of railway employees, as follows: Trainmen 2,310 killed and 24,989 injured; switch tenders, crossing tenders and watchmen, 147 killed, 1,026 injured; other employees, 1,472 killed, 40,686 injured. The casualties to employees coupling and uncoupling cars were: Employees killed, 298; injured, 3,884. The casualties connected with coupling and uncoupling cars are assigned as follows: Trainmen killed, 206; injured, 3,599; switch tenders, crossing tenders and watchmen killed, 18; injured, 170; other employees killed, 14; injured, 124.

The casualties due to falling from trains, locomotives, or cars in motion were: Trainmen killed, 454; injured, 5,215; switch tenders, crossing tenders and watchmen killed, 1; injured, 149; other employees killed, 64; injured, 712. The casualties due to jumping on or off trains, locomotives or cars in motion were: Trainmen killed, 130; injured, 4,809; switch tenders, crossing tenders and watchmen killed, 7; injured, 119; other employees killed, 76; injured, 685. The casualties to the same three classes of employees in consequence of collisions and derailments were: Trainmen killed, 693; injured, 5,245; switch tenders, crossing tenders and watchmen killed, 3; injured, 69; other employees killed, 91; injured, 888. The number of passengers killed

In the course of the year 1906 was 359 and the number injured, 10,764. In the previous year 537 passengers were killed and 10,457 injured. There were 146 passengers killed and 6,053 injured because of collisions and derailments. The total number of persons other than employees and passengers killed was 6,339; injured, 10,241. These figures include the casualties to persons trespassing, of whom 5,381 were killed and 5,927 were injured. The total number of casualties to others than employees from being struck by trains, locomotives or cars was 5,127 killed and 4,905 injured. The casualties of this class were: At highway crossings, passengers killed, 3; injured, 8; other persons killed, 926; injured, 1,884; at stations, passengers killed, 48; injured, 96; other persons killed, 566; injured, 647; at other points along the track, passengers killed, 3; injured, 16; other persons killed, 3,581; injured, 2,254. The ratios of casualties indicate that 1 employee in every 387 was killed and 1 employee in every 29 was injured. With regard to trainmen—that is, engineers, firemen, conductors and other trainmen—it appears that 1 trainman was killed for every 124 employed and 1 was injured for every 8 employed.

In 1906 1 passenger was killed for every 2,227,941 carried, and 1 injured for every 14,276 carried. For 1905 the figures show that 1,375,856 passengers were carried for 1 killed, and 70,655 passengers were carried for 1 injured. For 1895 1 passenger was killed for every 2,984,832 carried, and 1 injured for every 213,651 carried. With respect to the number of miles traveled, the figures for 1906 show that 70,126,686 passenger-miles traveled were accomplished for each passenger killed, and 2,338,859 passenger-miles for each passenger injured. The figures for 1895 show that 71,696,743 passenger-miles were accomplished for each passenger killed, and 5,131,977 passenger-miles for each passenger injured.

Parlor Magic.

Mr. Kybosh, who was in search of a late copy of a monthly magazine, absent-mindedly stepped into the parlor.

He was just in time to see the young man hastily remove his arm from the back of the chair in which Miss Kitty was sitting.

"Pressed! O! Change!" he muttered, instantly stepping back into the sitting room.

For Mr. Kybosh remembered that he was a young man himself many years ago.

S.S.S. CURES CHRONIC ULCERS

Chronic Ulcers are the result of a deeply polluted and foul blood supply. The blood is filled with impurities and germs which are being constantly fed into the place through the circulation, until all the surrounding flesh becomes diseased and the sore an obstinate and permanent trouble. Every symptom of an old ulcer suggests pollution; the discharge, the red, angry looking flesh, the inflammation and discoloration of surrounding parts, all show that the ulcer is prevented from healing by the constant drainage through it of impurities from the blood. This impure condition of the blood may be hereditary, or it may be the remains of some constitutional disease, or the effects of a long spell of sickness, leaving disease germs in the system, or the absorption of the refuse of the body which has not been properly expelled through the natural channels. But whatever the cause, the blood is so weakened and polluted that it does not properly nourish and stimulate the place, and the sore cannot heal. Salves, plasters, lotions, etc., keep the sore or ulcer clean, relieve pain, and perhaps reduce inflammation, but can never permanently heal them because they do not reach the blood. S. S. S. goes down to the very fountain-head of the trouble, drives out all poisons and germs, builds up the weak, sluggish blood, gives energy and strength to the system, and by sending a fresh, healthy stream of blood to the diseased parts, allows the ulcer to heal naturally and permanently. Nothing reaches inherited taints like S. S. S. It cleanses the circulation of every trace of hereditary disease or impurity, and those who have nursed and treated an old sore for years will experience good results as soon as the system becomes influenced by S. S. S. Book on Sores and Ulcers and medical advice free to all who write.

DRINKING FOUNTAIN

WILL BE SECURED FOR PADUCAH BY MR. TILGHMAN.

Is Trustee of Fund Left By Wealthy New Yorker for Purpose of Installing Drinking Fountains.

A reception in honor of Mr. Frederick B. Tilghman, son of General Lloyd Tilghman, and Sculptor H. H. Kitson, of Boston, was held at the Palmer house yesterday afternoon from 3:30 to 4:30 o'clock, and proved one of the most enjoyable social functions held in Paducah in some time. Many Paducah society members were in attendance, members of the Daughters of the Confederacy being largely represented. Following the reception Messrs. Tilghman and Kitson left for Vicksburg, Miss., to confer with national park commissioners relative to erecting a memorial to General Tilghman in the national park in Mississippi.

Mr. Tilghman stated that he would secure a $1,000 stock drinking fountain for Paducah. He is trustee of a fund left by a wealthy New Yorker who directed that it be used in installing stock drinking fountains throughout the country. Mr. Tilghman directed that the location be fixed and he would see that the fountain was installed at once. Dr. D. G. Murrell and President Earl Palmer, of the aldermanic board, were authorized to select a site.

AFTER HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW.

Got in the Wrong House and Murdered Mrs. Etl.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 18.—James Holt was arrested Tuesday charged with the murder of Mrs. Virginia Etl. She was murdered in her home several months ago and her husband is in jail charged with the crime. The detective who caused Holt's arrest says that the prisoner had threatened his mother-in-law on the day Mrs. Etl. was killed. She resided in the same with Mrs. Etl. It is believed by the detective that while Holt was drunk he got into the wrong house and murdered Mrs. Etl.

ROUTINE BUSINESS.

All That Is to Come Before Board of Aldermen at Tonight's Meeting.

The board of aldermen will meet tonight in regular session with a great deal of routine business to transact. Business consists chiefly of ratification of actions of the lower board, and one matter which will come up will be the question of granting promoters of fall races and horse show, privilege of roping in South Third street for automobile races during the race meet. It is understood a majority of aldermen favor it. Councilmen granted the request on Tuesday night.

ADMIRAL WALKER

Dies at the Age of Seventy-two in Maine.

York Beach, Me., Sept. 18.—Rear Admiral John G. Walker (United States navy, retired, died suddenly last night at the home of a friend at High Pasture, York Cliffs. Admiral Walker was seventy-two years of age and a native of New Hampshire. He was known as the promoter of the famous squadron of evolution, which became known as the "White Squadron," and of which he was appointed commander.

"Ma," "Yes, my son." "What is an emergency brake?" "An emergency brake, my son, is when the maid lets a plate fall just as your father is about to swear at the meat."—The Reader.

SOME POISON FOODS.

Scientists Have Discovered Why They Prove Irritating to Stomachs.

Woods Hutchinson, M. D., contributes to McClure's Magazine for September an article separating three classes of "poison foods," commonly used in small quantities without harmful effect, from the comestibles that form staples of diet. Indeed, some combination of the few kinds of mammalian meats, maize, wheat, rice, butter, oil, sugar and salt, "two-thirds of the money expended for food by every civilized race and most barbaric ones" goes to purchase:

"Science has, of course, long ago vindicated the good sense of humanity's selection by showing that they contain the highest degree of fuel-value, digestibility and freedom from injurious results that is to be had for the price—in most cases, indeed, at any price."

The virulent poison of the cassava root can be extracted, and its starch is perfectly edible. The tubers of the potato also contain a modicum of poison, which cooking eliminates. These roots represent a small group of "poison foods."

The second and main group has but just been "found out," scientifically speaking, although human stomachs long ago detected its influence. Peas, beans, chestnuts, peanuts and all nuts, brown bread and cheese possess nutritive value at least equal to the staples, and have, therefore, been much accented by the fadists. Of these Dr. Hutchinson says:

"Studies made from another point of view in the laboratories are beginning to throw a flood of light on the reason for the failure of these foods promptly to meet with favor on the part of the public, revealing the surprising fact that many articles of food contain, combined with their high percentage of nutritive value, substances which are irritating to the stomach, disturb digestion, or may even behave as active poisons."

As for the bean—Boston take notice—"coiled amid its rich store of proteid and fat, like guardian dragons, lie an aromatic oil and a bitter alkaloid, both poisonous to the susceptible stomach in small amounts, and to the average one in larger." If some one could invent a process of surely extracting its poisonous elements he would not only confer a general benefit, but would save many devoted lives of misguided diet reformers and vegetarians. The banana, rich in sugar and starch, even at its proper ripeness, has an irritant in its flavoring essences. Why nuts can never form a staple is thus indicated:

"An irritating principle has been found present in all nuts, partly in the kernel itself and partly in the skin which surrounds the kernel, which, even in cases of very moderate amounts, is a very decided irritant to the digestive canal. Peanuts—which, of course, are not nuts at all, but the seeds of a species of pea which is artificially caused to develop underground—are particularly strong in these poisonous extracts."

The third class belongs to the order of "casual criminals," that is, when eaten with due moderation they are of high practical value as garnishes—most fruits, especially strawberries, several varieties of common vegetables, and some "sea foods."

The tomato, which has the worst popular reputation, "seems comparatively free from actual offense." Of coffee and tea much depends on the mode of preparation and the amounts drunk, but "few discoveries of the wit of man have added more to the comfort and happiness of life and less to its misery than tea and coffee."—New York Times.

exceeds the bounds of probability," exclaimed the apologists for morse. But when the manuscript was examined there "morse" was the word, plainly written.—St. James Gazette.

For the Noiseless City.

Speaking of the prospect of making cities noiseless, a writer in Harper's Weekly says: The surface car and elevated train roar and scrape along like the rumbling of approaching artillery. How can this noise be eliminated? "By forcing the companies to live up to the law in not using flat wheels," some one says. That only partly solves the difficulty. Now science proposes to do away with the scraping of iron against iron. There are two methods proposed. One is to use rubber tires for the car wheels and the other is to coat the top of the rails with a composition which will not give forth any metallic sound when scraped by iron wheels. Rubber tires for car wheels are somewhat of novelties, but a long series of experiments has been made with them which show that they will in the end be adopted. It is not natural rubber, but an artificial compound, which is fastened to the rim of the wheels by a process of welding. The coating cannot be torn off, and wears only a little faster than iron. If the top surface of the rails were coated with this same rubber-like composition, friction would be reduced to a minimum.

—Of course no merchant in this city knows exactly what you may most want to buy today—but, look at the ads. and see how nearly they have guessed it!

Inadvertence was responsible for the omission of the fateful negative in an article on national politics in Ohio, causing The Sun to say that the people of that state are opposed to Taft, when it should have said are not opposed to Taft. As a matter of fact, Taft is the favorite son, coming second in availability to Roosevelt in the popular mind up there, and if the president becomes eliminated as a possibility, Ohio probably will rally to her leading citizen. The impression intended to be conveyed was not derogatory of Taft, but illuminative of the situation as regards President

Roosevelt.

PROTECTION.

"No Republican will ever destroy the protective feature of the tariff," says a local contemporary. No Republican paper and no Republican speaker could have said a truer word than that. No Republican ever will destroy the protective feature of the tariff. That was an assertion of a Democratic paper. We make it a promise. The protective feature of the tariff, the "American Policy" of the great Kentuckian, Henry Clay,

the principle of which was accepted by Andrew Jackson, simply imposes a barrier to the free importation of goods manufactured by the cheap

labor of Europe. Whatever the duty is, that amount must be added to the original cost of production by the foreign competitor in this country, thus allowing American manufacturers a margin to cover the higher wages of American working men. The Dingley schedules are not invulnerable. A careful revision of the schedules to meet changed conditions are demanded in some quarters, but any reasonable man, who believes that the tariff affects business, appreciates the impropriety of jeopardizing business prosperity by dragging the subject and extent of tariff revision into a political campaign. The revision should be made by a commission after the heat of the campaign has subsided and fevered brains have returned to normal, permitting rational action uncontrolled by political expediency. But we repeat, "No Republican will ever destroy the protective features of the tariff." The tariff may be materially reduced. In some instances schedules may be entirely removed. But, Manufacturers and Working Men, your protection will remain.

Prison life has made Cassie Chadwick blind. If she remains confined long enough she may lose her touch.

H. H. Rogers has closed his active career. Of what value has it been to the world? There's the test.

Well, Senator Carmack knows that Governor Patterson can't play the fiddle.

Let us show the visitors next week that weeds are not indigenous to our temperament.

What we want is a city so thoroughly clean that horse show visitors will comment on the fact. When they do, the comments will awaken a pride that will obviate the necessity of another admonition. It is so easy to be clean.

TO ACCOMPANY ROOSEVELT.

The country is pleased to learn that the Inland waterways commission will accompany President Roosevelt on his trip down the Mississippi, from Keokuk to Memphis. This seems so proper that the country will be surprised that it had not been arranged for in the beginning. It was not definitely fixed, however, until a day or two ago that the commission would make the trip with the president. The fact that that body will be at all the functions for which the president is scheduled while on the Mississippi will make his advent here not only more interesting to the cities at which he stops, but will make the trip more profitable to himself.

As the commission is making its rounds along the big inland waterways of the country it is learning many things which will be of advantage to the president to know, and which the commission will take special pains to tell him. It will make a study of the waterways between the lakes and the Mississippi, and will be able to give the president a good deal of information about the work which will be needed to be urged along the course of the drainage canal and the Illinois river to its entrance into the Mississippi. The object of the commission is to study the needs and the possibilities of all the inland navigable waterways of the country, but those which will have most interest for the president on his coming trip will be those which associate themselves with the big river and its leading tributaries.

The president assimilates information quickly, but he will be assisted in this process by the "points" which will be given to him by Mr. Burton and his associates of the Inland waterways commission. As the president himself suggested and appointed that body and mapped out its work, he knows its members personally, understands what they are here for, and is glad that they are here. The results of the coming trip will register themselves in the message to congress at the opening of the session in December or in a subsequent special message, and the commission will undoubtedly aid him in telling congress the right things to do, and in influencing congress to do them, for many of its members are also members of congress.—Globe-Democrat.

Tomorrow we will have an article on the personal observation of what one German farmer did to a thin soiled hill top.

Kirbys Practically Free.

Greenwood, Miss., Sept. 19.—Dr. Kirby, held to the grand jury on the nominal bond of $1,000 for killing James D. Money, Jr., his brother Carl Kirby absolved from the charge of being an accessory to that crime and the charge withdrawn by the state, but held in the sum of $500 for assault with intent to kill Col. Money, was the verdict in the preliminary trial of the two concluded here today. This is regarded by the Kirbys and their friends as a complete vindication.

Just Had to Jump Off.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—With no other desire than to feel the exhilaration of leaping from Lincoln Park bridge, 100 feet into a lagoon, Alice Wille, 22 years old, took the plunge and was arrested today charged with disorderly conduct. She probably will be allowed to return to her work as a domestic. She said she could not overcome the fascination of the leap from the bridge.

DROWNS HERSELF AND CHILD.

Crazed Woman From Streator, Ill., Commits Suicide at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Sept. 19.—Driven insane by brooding over her ill health and the protracted absence of her husband in Iowa, Mrs. Anna Baker, 31 years old, left the home of her brother-in-law last night, accompanied by her 7-year-old daughter, and proceeded to the shores of Johnson's lake, where she hurled both herself and daughter into the water. The woman left the following note:

I want to save my dear little darling from this world. You will find us in Johnson's lake. Telephone to some friend of ours in Streator, Ill., and some one should telephone from Streator to Fred that his father is sick. He should come to Streator. Don't telephone to the folks direct.

Don't take me into anyone's home. Send us to Streator.

ROCKEFELLER AGAIN AT HELM.

Wall Street Is Stirred By Reports of His Activity in Business.

New York, Sept. 19.—Has John D. Rockefeller, Sr., in view of the stroke or paralysis or nervous breakdown that has retired Henry H. Rogers from business, once more taken the active helm of the Standard Oil?

This is the question that Wall street was debating today, and many believed that the old pilot of the great oil combine is again in charge. It is understood that Mr. Rockefeller has visited his offices on the fourteenth floor of the Standard Oil building at 26 Broadway on several occasions in the last few weeks. These were his first visits to his offices in eight or nine years.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is also devoting more time to the affairs of the Standard Oil company than ever before.

EXTRADITION Muddle.

Arisen Over Adsell, Who Put Woman's Corpse in Trunk.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 19.—Trouble has arisen with regard to the extradition of W. H. Adsell arrested at Chee Foo and taken on the United States steamship Galveston for the murder of Gertrude Dayton, an American woman, in a Hongkong hotel. He afterwards crowded the remains into a trunk and placed them on the steamship Mont Eagle. The British authorities are endeavoring to secure the extradition of the accused to Hongkong for trial, but the United States government refuses to give him up, and has notified the United States consul general at Chefoo to proceed against him.

SENATOR LINDSAY

SERIOUSLY ILL.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 19.—Judge William Lindsay has been seriously ill, and his friends are concerned about his condition. He was stricken several days ago, but had rallied, and his friends thought he had recovered. He spent a bad night last night, however, and his condition this morning caused some uneasiness.

Kentucky Tobacco Trust Case.

New Castle, Ky., Sept. 19.—The case of the commonwealth against the American Tobacco company, in which the latter is charged with being a monopoly in restraint of trade, was called for trial in the circuit court here this morning, with Judge Peake on the bench. Both sides are represented by an imposing array of counsel, and the trial will be bitterly fought. Considerable trouble has been experienced in securing a jury, as nearly all who were questioned had made up their minds that the company was a trust and hence were ineligible for jury service.

It is hardly likely that the jury will be secured before this afternoon.

Kirbys Practically Free.

Greenwood, Miss., Sept. 19.—Dr. Kirby, held to the grand jury on the nominal bond of $1,000 for killing James D. Money, Jr., his brother Carl Kirby absolved from the charge of being an accessory to that crime and the charge withdrawn by the state, but held in the sum of $500 for assault with intent to kill Col. ## SULLIVAN OPPOSES REFEREE.

Jack (Twin) Objects to the Selection of Billy Roche as Official.

San Francisco, Sept. 19.—Jack (Twin) Sullivan is much dissatisfied over the manner in which arrangements are proceeding for his bout with Bill Squires and stated today that it was only the hope of getting a return go with Tommy Burns which made him enter the match. He defeated Burns two years ago in Los Angeles.

Sullivan objects to Billy Roche as referee and consented unwillingly to have him as the third man in the ring. He stood out strongly for Referee Welch, who officiated at the Gans-Britt affair. The influence of the club promoters was too strong, however, and he was overruled. As a result interest in the bout here is but half-hearted. Little attention is paid to the fighters by any of the followers of sport.

ROBBERS' RICH HAUL.

Forty Thousand Dollars, Largely in Bills Secured in Holdup.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 19.—Forty thousand dollars, mainly in large bills, is now believed to have been secured by robbers who held up the Great Northern train near Rexford, Mont., Sept. 12. The money is reported to have been shipped by the Commercial bank of Chicago to the Old National bank of Spokane.

Young Girl a Walking Bomb.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19.—The police today arrested a young girl, nicknamed Wanda, who is accused of participating in a plot to blow up the headquarters of the secret police situated on the Molka canal, whose torture chambers have aroused bitter feeling on the part of the revolutionists. The police claim that "Wanda" planned to become a "walking bomb" and enter the headquarters building in the middle of the day, when it is generally full of police, wearing the uniform of a gendarme officer lined with walls of gun cotton and carrying powerful bombs.

"Wanda," the police say, had hoped by blowing herself up to reduce the entire building to ruins and kill all the officers composing the staff of the political police.

In consequence of the murderous designs of the revolutionists the secret police have decided to give up their present quarters and remove to an isolated stone building on Kamen place.

PEOPLE AND SOCIAL EVENTS

Married in Cairo.

The marriage of Mr. Lester Yates and Miss Laura A. Wagner, both of Paducah, was solemnized yesterday afternoon by Rev. S. C. Ohm at the parsonage of the Cairo Baptist church—Cairo Bulletin.

Mr. and Mrs. Yates returned to Paducah last night and were given a delightful surprise reception at the home of Mrs. Minnie Wagner on South Third street. Many friends were present to receive them and a band of music welcomed them. A large number of pretty and useful bridal presents were awaiting them. Late in the evening a delightful luncheon was served the guests. The house was prettily decorated with ferns and flowers for the occasion. Among the guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Yates, and Mrs. Mabel Hudson, of Jonesboro, Ark., brother and sister of the groom, Mr. Edward Wagner, Miss Mamie Todd and James, brother and sister of the bride. The couple will reside on South Third street.

Box Social at Epperson.

The Jersey camp, No. 10, W. O. W. of the city were invited to attend a box social given by the Epperson camp at Epperson, six miles from town, last evening. It was a pleasant occasion and a number of the local camp attended. A hayride was one of the pleasant features. Delightful refreshments were served and several addresses were made. Mrs. A. L. Isman, of the Magnolia Grove, No. 29, gave an excellent talk.

Talented Paducah Boy.

Mr. Vaughan Dabney, of North Fifth street, left yesterday for Bethany, West Virginia, where he will enter the Bethany college to study for the ministry. This is an old-established college of the Christian denomination and was founded by a son of Alexander Campbell. The late Elder George A. Flowers, formerly a minister of the First Christian church in Paducah, is among the prominent ministers who have been educated there. Mr. Dabney is bright and talented, and was graduated from the Paducah schools when quite young. Since then he has attended college in Lexington and has studied civil engineering practically in connection with the government work on the Mississippi levee, and has received rapid promotion. His decision to enter the ministry was made when quite a boy, but at the request of his parents he has waited that there might be no mistake in the choice. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Dabney and his future is one of promise.

Woman's Club Invitations.

The invitation committee of the Woman's club sent out the invitations to the opening reception of the new club house on Monday evening, next week. To all members of the club was mailed an invitation containing two presentation cards, one for self and invited guest. Besides the club members all gentlemen who had contributed to the club were sent invitations containing cards for two. As some of the invitations have never been received the committee desire that the members and those who so generously aided the club should know that they were not overlooked and feel most regretful. It is just probable that the invitations being unsealed and sent with one cent stamps, were overlooked as advertising circulars in some of the business houses and offices, and so consigned unopened to the waste basket.

Dance at Pavilion.

There will be a dance this evening at the Wallace park dancing pavilion given by the younger society men.

LEE LINE WHARFBOAT.

Where President Roosevelt Will Land in St. Louis.

The Lee Line wharfboat in St. Louis, which has been tendered the committee of arrangements, has been accepted by it as the place where the official boat of President Roosevelt will land on its way from Keokuk, Ia., to the deep waterways convention in Memphis. It is one of the largest and most commodious in that port and the committee has been congratulated on securing it. President Roosevelt and party will arrive in St. Louis Wednesday, Oct. 2, and will get off the boat onto the wharfboat at the foot of Vine street. He will be met in the wharfboat with carriages, and will not have to put his foot on the levee. The boat will be handsomely decorated with flags and bunting for the occasion.

Capt. Robert E. Lee, president and general manager of the Lee line, has instructed D. M. Connors, the managing agent of the company in St. Louis, to turn over the wharfboat to the committee on the day the president arrives and to see that everything is in order for his arrival. The steamer will lay alongside of this boat until the president completes his visit to the city of St. Louis and returns aboard for the trip to Memphis.

Proposed by Members of The Hague Peace Conference.

The Hague, Sept. 19.—One of the stormiest sittings since the opening of the peace conference marked the discussion yesterday by members of the committee on maritime warfare of the project concerning the laying of submarine mines.

The leading note was the antagonism between Great Britain and Germany, Great Britain having the more powerful navy, wishes to abolish or limit to the utmost, the employment of mines, while the interests of Germany are in direct opposition to such a proposal.

TO PENITENTIARY WITH BIG FELLOWS

Henry Clews to Kentucky Bankers at Louisville.

Country Has Gone Ahead Too Fast in Costly Construction Work—The South.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IS FIRM

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 19.—A plea for the punishment by imprisonment of dishonest corporation officials and a protest against the tendency in certain quarters to attribute the recent decline in the stock market to President Roosevelt's policies were made by Henry Clews of New York in an address before the Kentucky Bankers association here today. Mr. Clews took for his subject "The Situation" and discussed existing conditions in the financial world at considerable length. He expressed the opinion that the administration's expressed intention to originally prosecute the men guilty of illegal practices in the management of stock companies will prove a benefit instead of a detriment to the country's business affairs.

Mr. Clews in the opening portion of his remarks reviewed the events in the stock market during the past six months. A crisis had been impending for a long time he said, but the trouble did not become acute until the fine of $29,240,000 was imposed on the Standard Oil company of Indiana. Then the speculative millionaires who had been trying to engineer an upward movement in stocks found them selves overloaded and they began to sell out at whatever prices they could obtain. Thus with support withdrawn, there was a sharp decline in prices of securities, the chief sufferers being the best and highest priced stocks.

"The apprehension excited among investors and speculators by that $29,240,000 fine," said Mr. Clews, "did an immense amount of harm through the enormous losses to which it led, in combination with the prosecution of the Southern railway by the southern states, involving the Alabama and the United States court, that extravagant fine, so suggestive of opera bouffe, was the immediate cause of the heavy liquidation that produced the August crisis and turned the New York stock market into a storm center. Although there was no probability or even possibility of this fine ever being collected from a million dollar corporation, even if affirmed on appeal, public sentiment was about as much disturbed as if it were ultimately collectible. By creating, although without sufficient reason, fear of confiscation it led to those enormous sales and sacrifices of stocks by investors, as well as by speculators, and the virtual panic that lasted those two long and memorable weeks.

"The innocent thus suffered with the guilty, and the evil effect of such a fine was clearly demonstrated by a very severe and disastrous object lesson. The true remedy for rebating and other willful violations of law is not to be found in the infliction of heavy penalties on the guilty corporations but on the responsible and guilty officers of those corporations, and not alone by fine, but by imprisonment. Heavy fines inflicted on corporations fall finally on their stockholders, through a corresponding loss of dividend paying power; and the lowering of market prices for their stocks. The proper remedy is punishment behind iron bars.

"As the stockholders are in no way responsible for delinquencies in management, it is unjust to make them suffer the consequences of these. It should, therefore, be the future policy of both the federal government and the states to punish corporations for illegal practices by criminal proceedings against those in their employment who are found to be responsible for them. Thus punishments will be confined to the guilty, and confidence will be restored among investors, for such prosecutions would in no way tend to depreciate the value of the stocks and bonds of the corporations concerned, but on the contrary they would tend to enhance their value by promoting honest management.

"Stimulated by the country's enormous prosperity during the last few years, we have gone ahead too fast in all kinds of new and costly construction work and improvements. We have in fact, gone ahead regardless of expenses; and railway and manufacturing corporations have stretched their credit, in too many instances, almost to the breaking point. Meanwhile the railways have been overtaxed with traffic and manufacturing overruns with orders for their products; and they still are so notwithstanding all the much discussed and confidently predicted falling off in trade.

"Of one thing we may be sure, and that is that President Roosevelt will always stand firm in his policy of enforcing the law against wrong-doing by corporations. We heard this from Secretary Taft in his strong endorsement of that policy, and we heard it reaffirmed in the president's Provincetown speech. But the penalties should always be inflicted on the individual officers responsible for violations of law, and these, to be effective, should involve imprisonment, not fines against them or the corporations. That remedy is the only cer-

Franchise Tax is the Subject of Discussion at Norfolk Conference.

Norfolk, Sept. 19.—Mayor W. W. Todd, of Jackson, Mich., spoke today on "Low Rates for Public Service vs. Franchise Taxation," before the annual convention of the League of American Municipalities here. He said in part:

"Personally my experience and observation have taught me that the creatures of the public corporations have not borne their share of taxation. Their financial strength has given them undue political influence. This influence has been exerted to the detriment of the people in many cases. Michigan believes in equal opportunities, equal rights and equal taxation. Her cities, like those of most other states, derive their powers through the legislature.

"The legislature in 1900 on the recommendation of Governor Pinckney repealed the charter of the Michigan Central railway and compelled the railroad to carry for two cents per mile.

"Events immediately demonstrated the wisdom of this course, for it was not only beneficial to the people but to the railroads as well.

"The former paid less for their tain cure for the disease, if it again appears.

"While stocks were going down rapidly, cotton advanced, thus showing that cotton is still king in the south, although less powerful in its sway, than before the war, owing to the south's development of its other resources and its more diversified financial and commercial interests. It is fortunate in not having all its eggs in one basket.

Commerce now proposes to convert the famous and almost sacred shark of the bay of San Juan del Norte, in Nicaragua, into factory products.

Americans have been tempted by the vast number and sizes of the sharks down there and the ease of catching them into studying possible uses for the monsters, and they find that there is lots of money in sharks. Indeed, there is hardly a part of the wicked brute that cannot be utilized for something.

For instance, shark fins, when properly prepared, furnish jelly that makes a really delicious soup. There is an excellent market for it everywhere on earth where there are Chinese, and it has even been claimed that, if it were once offered as an American product, it would not be long before the people of this country would relish it as much as do the Chinese.

The livers of sharks produce splendid clear oil that is very valuable and in great demand for the lubrication of the works of watches, clocks and of fine guns. This oil is held in almost as great estimation as is the oil obtained from the porpoise and dogfish liver, generally conceded to be the finest oil there is.

The skin of sharks is of a beautiful burnished gray or bluish color, it looks like finely grained leather by reason of the tiny prickles set all one way. They are quite invisible to the naked eye. Minute as are these prickles or thorns, they are so powerful that it is almost impossible to rub the hand over a shark's skin in the direction opposite to that in which they point.

This property makes the skin valuable for the manufacture of "shagreen," and it is both tough and easy to work, shark skin can be used for a multitude of purposes in which decorative leather effects are applicable.

Even the bones of sharks are useful. The backbone is in constant demand by walking cane manufacturers. They pass a thin malacca or steel cane through the beautifully polished and perfectly round vertebrae and sell them for high prices as curiosities.

The teeth and jawbones are salable readily to collectors and tourists. A gaping pair of jaws from a twelve or fourteen-foot shark makes a striking and decorative ornament.

When the American business man gets after the sharks in the bay of San Juan, del Norte there will be great dismay in the tropical fish world, for the natives have left the monsters undisturbed for centuries, the result being that from Greyton north and south the sea is thronged with sharks of all species, ranging in size from two feet to fifteen feet and even more.

Among them are the swift blue sharks, the savage striped tiger shark, spotted leopard sharks, hideous hammer-heads, threshers or swingle tails and the immense but lazy basking sharks, which often grow so large that the have been mistaken for whales.

No one has ever tried to destroy them, and with the exception of an occasional tourist, none has ever fished for them, either for sport or market. So they have become bolder and bolder each year, until now they will swim close alongside of the big and little boats watching them closely in the hope that something will fall overboard.

The respect in which the natives appear to hold the sharks often leads a casual visitor to believe that they have a superstitious regard for them, but the real truth of the matter is that the lazy and unambitious Central Americans let the sharks alone because the greedy fish save them the trouble of keeping their harbors clean.

In that hot climate the offal that falls overboard and floats decays so quickly that even the disinfecting qualities of salt water have no practical effect upon it. And everybody in the seacoast towns throws waste matter into the harbor at his own sweet will. In addition, the ships throw into the water everything that they do not need.—Philadelphia Record.

At present about half the coke in Germany is produced in the older style of ovens, which burn all their own gas, and from which only exhaust heat is available for steam generation. The other half of the coke is made in by-product ovens, where the gases are cooled and deprived of their tar, ammonia, benzol, etc., and are then used partly for heating the ovens themselves and for gas engines. By constructing these by-product ovens on the regenerative principle all their gas can be used in gas engines. It has been estimated that the gas and waste heat from the coke ovens in Germany are capable of producing from 500,000 to 600,000 horse power, according as they are used for steam generation or in gas engines or partly for one and partly for the other. Coke oven gas engines with a total capacity of 44,000 horse power were actually in use or in course of construction last summer.

Blast furnace gas is a still more important source of power. With a monthly output of 1,000,000 tons of iron, which was slightly exceeded by the blast furnaces of Germany in 1906, it is found that they generate enough gas to produce 1,000,000 horse power if used in gas engines or about half that amount if burned under boilers in connection with the best reciprocating engines or steam turbines, and only one-third of a million horse power or less if used with steam engines such as are often found at metallurgical works and mines.

The blast furnace gas engine has made rapid progress, and in May, 1906, there were in operation or in course of construction in Germany such engines with a total capacity of 272,000 horse power.—Engineering Magazine.

"Oh, yes. As I told you, I intend to live very quietly in St. Petersburg, and the prince has his shop and a pair of rooms above it in a working quarter of the city. I shall occupy one of the rooms and he the other. The prince is an excellent cook, so we shan't starve, even if we engage no servant."

"Has the prince given his estates away also?"
"He hasn't given them away exactly, but he is a very indulgent landlord, and he spends so much money on his experiments and travel that, although he has a formidable income, he is very frequently quite short of money. Did you like him?"

"Yes. Of course I saw him for a moment only. I wonder why he hasn't returned. There's been several dances since they left."

"Perhaps," said the lieutenant, with a slight return of his stammering, "your friend may be as fond of dancing as Jack is."

"You are still determined to go to Russia?"

"Quite. There is absolutely no danger. I may not accomplish anything, but I'll have a try at it. The prince has a good deal of influence in St. Petersburg, which he will use quietly on my behalf, so that I may see the important people. I shall be glad when the captain ceases frowning."

Drummond was interrupted by a fellow officer, who raised his cap and begged a word with him.

"I think, Drummond, the captain wanted to see you."

"Oh, did he say that?"

"No, but I know he has left a note for you in your cabin. Shall I go and fetch it?"

"I wish you would, Chesham, if you don't mind and it isn't too much trouble."

"No trouble at all. Delighted, I'm sure," said Chesham, again raising his cap and going off.

"Now, I wonder what I have forgotten to do."

Drummond heaved a sigh proportionate to himself.

"Under the present condition of things a bit of neglect that would go unnoticed with another man is a sign of unrepentant villainy in me. Any other lieutenant may steal a horse, while I may not look over a hedge. You see how necessary it is for me to go to Russia and get this thing smoothed over."

"I think perhaps you are too sensitive and notice slight things where nothing of the kind is meant," said the girl.

Chesham returned and handed Drummond a letter.

"Will you excuse me a moment?" he said, and as she looked at him he flattered himself that he noticed a trace of anxiety in her eyes. He tore open the missive.

"By Jove!" he cried.

"What is it?" she could not prevent herself from saying, leaning forward.

"I am ordered home. The admiralty commands me to take the first steamer for England."

"Is that serious?"

He laughed with well feigned hilarity.

"Oh, no, not serious; it's just their way of doing things. They might as well have allowed me to come home in my own ship. My only fear is I shall have to take the train for New York early tomorrow morning. But," he said, holding out his hands, "it is not serious if you allow me to write to you and if you will permit me to hope that I may receive an answer."

She placed her hand in his, this time without hesitation.

"You may write," she said, "and I will reply. I trust it is not serious."

CHAPTER V.

IN mid-afternoon of the day following the entertainment on board the Consternation our two girls were seated opposite one another under the rafters of the sewing room in the listless, desultory manner of those who have not gone home till morning, till daylight did appear. The dominant note of a summer cottage is the rocking chair, and there were two in the sewing room, where Katherine and Dorothy swayed gently back and forth as they talked. They sat close to the low, broad window which presented so beautiful a picture of the blue bay and the white shipping. The huge Consternation lay moored with her broadside toward the town, all sign of festivity already removed from hull and rigging, and to the scarcely slumber satisfied eyes of the girls something of the sadness of departure seemed to hang as a haze around the great ship. The girls were not discussing the past, but rather anticipating the future, forecasting it, with long, silent pauses intervening.

"So you will not stay with us? You are determined to turn your wealthy back on the poor Kempt family?" Katherine was saying.

"But I shall return to the Kempt family now and then, if they will let me. I must get away for a time and think. My life has suddenly become all topsy turvy, and I need to get my bearings, as does a ship that has been through a storm and lost her reckoning."

"She dunno where she are," as the song says.

"Exactly. That is the state of things."

"I think it's too bad, Dorothy, that you did not allow us to make public announcement of your good fortune. Just imagine what an ovation you would have had on board the cruiser last night if it had been known that the richest woman in that assemblage was a pretty, shy little creature sitting all by herself, and never indulging in even one dance."

"I shouldn't in the least care for that sort of ovation, Kate, and if every one present were as well pleased with the festivities as I, they must all have enjoyed themselves immensely. I believe my friend Kate did my share of the dancing as well as her own."

"She danced, and she danced, and she danced them 'a' din. I think those are the words of the Scottish song that the prince quoted. He seems up in Scottish poetry and does not even resent being called a Scotchman. This energetic person of the song seems to have danced them all to a standstill, as I understood him, for he informs me 'a' means 'all' and 'din' means 'done.' But I told him I'd rather learn Russian than Scotch; it was so much easier, and his highness was good enough to laugh at that. Didn't the lieutenant ask you to dance at all?"

"Oh, yes, he did."

"And you refused?"

"I didn't think he had sense enough to ask a girl to dance."

"You are ungrateful, Katherine. Remember he introduced you to the prince."

"Yes, that's so. I had forgotten. I shall never say anything against him again."

"You like the prince, then?"

"Of all the crowned heads, emperors, kings, emirs, monarchs of every description, dukes, counts, earls, marquises, whom I have met and who have bestowed my life asking me to share their royal perquisites I think I may say quite truthfully that I like this Jack Lamont better than any one of them."

"Surely Prince Jack has not offered you his principality already?"

"No, not yet, but with an eye to the future I have persuaded him to give up Tolstol and read Mark Twain, who is not only equally humorous but much more sensible than the Russian writer. Jack must not be allowed to give away his estates to the peasants as his silly sister has done. I may need them later on."

"Oh, you've got that far, have you?"

"I have got that far. He hasn't. He doesn't know anything about it, but I'll wake him up when the right time comes. There are many elements of sanity about him. He told me that he intended to give up his estates, but in the first place he had been too busy and in the second he needed the money. His good sense, however, requires nothing, so that he may get rid of the dross. I don't blame him; I blame Tolstol. For instance, when I asked him if he had patented his liquid invention he said he did not wish to make a profit from his discovery, but intended it for the good of humanity at large. Imagine such an idiotic idea as that!"

"I think such views are entirely to his credit," affirmed Dorothy.

"Oh, of course, but the plan is not practicable. If he allows such an invention to slip through his fingers, the Standard Oil people will likely get hold of it, form a monopoly, and then where would humanity at large be? I tell him the right way is to patent it, make all the money he can and use the cash for benefiting humanity under the direction of some charitable person like myself."

"Did you suggest that to him?"

"I did not intimate who the sensible person was, but I elucidated the principle of the thing."

"Yes. And what did he say?"

"Many things, Dorothy, many things. At one time he became confidential about his possessions in foreign lands. It seems he owns several castles, and when he visits any of them he cannot prevent the moujiks, if that is the proper term for the peasantry over there, from prostrating themselves on the ground as he passes by, beating their foreheads against the earth and chanting in choice Russian the phrase: 'Defer, defer. Here comes the lord high executioner, or words to that effect. I told him I didn't see why he should interfere with so picturesque a custom, and he said if I visited one of his castles that these estimable people at a word from him would form a cordon round the mud and with their bodies, so that I might step dry shod from the carriage to the castle doors, and I stipulated that he should at least spread a bit of stair carpet over the poor wretches before I made my progress across his front yard."

"Well, you did become confidential if you discussed a visit to Russia."

"Yes, didn't we? I suppose you don't approve of my forward conduct?"

"I am sure you acted with the utmost prudence, Kate."

"I didn't lose any time, though, did I?"

"I don't know how much time is required to attain the point of friendship you reached. I am inexperienced. It is true I have read of love at first sight, and I am merely waiting to be told whether or not this is an instance of it."

"Oh, you are very diffident, aren't you, sitting there so bashfully?"

"I may seem timid or bashful, but it's merely sleepiness."

"You're a bit of a humbug, Dorothy."

"Why?"

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 18.—Former Mayor Charles F. Mr. Granger holds that, inasmuch as there is no salary attached to either position, there is no inconsistency in his holding both places.

We take pleasure in announcing that we now have Denatured Alcohol for our trade. It is to be used for burning purposes only, as nearly every one now knows, but for use in the arts and mechanics it is the most economical and satisfactory fuel known.

Cheaper than wood alcohol, it also burns without any of its offensive odor. Next time try it in your chafing dish or alcohol heater; it will be a revelation to you. Be sure to phone WINSTEAD'S, for no other Paducah druggist handles it.

LEAVE TOBACCO TO HEAR WILLSON

Planters of Bourbon Crowd
Court House at Paris.

Republican Candidate for Governor Answers False Assertions of Opposition.

EXPOSES TEMPERANCE FRAUD.

Paris, Ky., Sept. 19.—One of the best evidences of the intense interest that is being taken in the campaign for good government in Kentucky was shown in the audience which greeted Augustus E. Willson, the Republican nominee for governor, at this place today. Of the crowd which filled the circuit court room of the handsome Bourbon county court house a large portion came directly from the farm, where the cutting of tobacco and hemp is being conducted with unusual activity just now.

During the tobacco cutting process a day's rain might result in the loss of all or a portion of a crop, and for a tobacco grower to leave the field at this particular time is considered an evidence of loyalty to principle and pride in Kentucky welfare, that is not to be denied.

On their arrival here this morning, Mr. Willson and his party were met at the station by a reception committee and a brass band, and driven to the Windsor hotel in carriages.

Mr. Willson held an informal reception at the hotel for nearly two hours, during which time many Republican leaders of the county called upon him and discussed organization and other matters. All of them assured the Republican nominee that Bourbon county could be depended upon to return a handsome Republican majority this fall.

In his address today Mr. Willson again exposed the false pretenses of the Democratic state machine in the matter of temperance legislation. He showed how Governor Beckham had never helped the temperance cause by any official act, and how the governor and his associates worked to defeat the county unit bill.

Mr. Willson called attention to a certain statement which has been made by the machine nominees to the effect that if he was elected governor, one of his first official acts would be to pardon the men under indictment in connection with the Goebel murder.

Would Quit Campaign.

"If I thought the people believed I would pardon these men without a fair trial I would quit this campaign," he said. "A governor will not be a political governor if he is a gentleman, and here is a man who does not believe that crime is political."

How the people are being humbugged by the statements of machine leaders was shown by Mr. Willson when he explained that the so-called Bradley bond issue of $1,000,000 was to pay the floating indebtedness incurred by previous Democratic administrations. This was a sample, he said, of the kind of square deal the Frankfort machine believed in.

He then went on to show by figures taken from State Auditor Hager's books how the expense of conducting the penitentiaries had been nearly $1,000,000 more a year than under Governor Bradley's administration.

At the close of his address Mr. Willson paid an earnest tribute to the people of Bourbon county and their enterprise and civic pride in erecting the handsome temple of justice in which he was speaking.

A good printer is a man of the highest type. He attends to his own case and makes it a rule never to be out of sorts.
